Where the Kootenay Central Railway is Now Building To!

THE OUTCROP.

Devoted to the Mining and Development of the Windermere and Golden Divisions of the District of North East Kootenay.

Year VII., No. 30. Wilmer, B. C., Thursday, December 27, 1906. $2.00 Per Year.

DISTRICT CROPPINGS

And Other Items of Interest in a General Way

Wm. Haupt and Jas. McCullock came down last Friday from the Tecumseh mine, situated on McDonald creek, to spend the holiday season. They are very much encouraged with the results of their work since they were last in town, and state the property is looking better than ever. Mr. Haupt states that he fully expects to be able to ship five carloads of the high grade Tecumseh ore next spring, which will be nearly double that shipped in any previous season. The work they have been at recently consists mostly of development work, but they have been fortunate enough to take out a large quantity of ore in so doing. They have started work on two new tunnels and have the ledge in both, with a good showing of ore. One of these tunnels, No 2, is about 10 feet below the tunnel from where all the previous shipments were made, while the second new tunnel, No 3, is about 80 feet further down. The development on these two tunnels is for the purpose of obtaining stoping ground, and as in No. 1 the ore was continuous, varying from a few inches to nearly three feet in width, it will be seen that the amount of stoping ground will be quite extensive. Mr. Haupt owns a two-third interest in the Tecumseh and T. H. Taylor, P.L.S., now of Vancouver, owns the other third. Mr. McCullock had a lease on a half interest in the property. These men deserve all the good things that now appear to be in store for them.

Christmas throughout the Columbia Valley was a very merry one, and from one end of the valley to the other there was not a child who was not made happy and in whose heart the memory of this joyous season will not live for long years to come. Every home was blessed with enough and to spare, and the joyous laughter of children and adults could have been heard from Canal Flat to the Big Bend.

The Athalmer school children had a high old time last Friday afternoon and evening. Accompanied by their teacher, Miss McLennan, and Mrs. Lake they were driven to Windermere in the afternoon and in the evening they spent a pleasant time in the Athalmer Hall with recitations, readings, etc., where they were provided with a plentiful supply of fruit, nuts, candies, etc., etc.

L cal parties have recently taken up over 1200 acres of land in the Upper Kootenay Valley, and it is probable that there will be more large tracts staked before many months pass. The land over the low divide is said to be very rich and the rain fall somewhat heavier than in this valley. Once a road is built up from Canal Flat this valley will attract a great number of settlers.

Robt. M. Clute came down Saturday from the B. C. mine, situated on the North Fork of Toby Creek, to spend Xmas, accompanied by Ed. Perry. He is working this property on her leases and expects to ship a couple of carloads of ore next season. The weather has been very severe at the mine, which is situated at a pretty high altitude.

The Seventh Annual New Year's Eve Ball to be held next Monday night in the Athalmer Hall gives every promise of being one of the very best. Everyone who loves the whims and fancies of the light fantastic has been figuring on the dance for weeks. You will miss something good if you miss this dance.

Von Kimpton returned to his home at Windermere last Friday from Montreal, where he has been attending school for the past two years. Von has grown wonderfully during his absence and his friends are glad to see him once more. Owing to his eyes being very weak he will remain at home for a year.

The Christmas cake at the Hotel Delphine is receiving much attention and "Tony", the Chinaman cook, who made it is receiving many compliments and rightly so. It is a work of art that must be seen to be appreciated and would attract attention in the largest cities.

C. A. Blacklock drove up from Golden last week with a couple of English men, who were seeking land. They went up Dutch creek before returning. Mr. Blacklock is now his on way to England to visit his relatives.

A large number of the lumbermen came in from the camps on Tuesday and made Athalmer resound with Xmas cheer.

Frank Anderson and J. Petersen came down from the Paradise mine Monday to spend the holiday season.

B. H. Washburn came down from the Pharmigan Mines on Monday to spend Xmas with his family.

S. Craig left Windermere last week to spend the holidays with his boy and relatives in Alberta.

The chinook winds almost succeeded in making a green Christmas in this valley.

Don't forget the New Year Ball.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL.

A happy new year to you, child of today! May you know more of sunshine than of cloud, and more of glee than of sorrow; may your tumbles and bumps be few, your laughter be frequent and long, your play be unrestrained, your sleep refreshing, your dreams pleasant.

A happy new year to you, bright youth and rosy cheeked maiden of our city and country—all happiness in the ambition, the joy, the friendship, the competitions and the rewards of school life. Success to you in the endeavor whereby the firm, enduring basis of true manhood and of noble womanhood are laid; with what success comes two-fold happiness—happiness to others and happiness to yourselves. Go forth gaily and confidently into the new year, O, you who are beautiful in the fresh vigor of your youth!

To you whose lives are hallowed with the grace of maternity, not one but many, many years of happiness! May your homes and mothers of this land, to see the lives you have cherished expand into beauty and usefulness; live long to know and feel the sweet rewards of gratitude, of veneration and of love. Survive those hours of pain, of cruelty, of watching and of sacrifice—live through it all dear, patient martyrs, to share the peace, the repose, the contentment, the compensations of the future, that surely wait for such as you.

A happy new year, too, to you, grandmothers and grandfathers everywhere! Look out upon all around you and see how passing fair the evening is, and all that is to be heard in it—contentment and repose. You hear voices, too, that we do not hear—they have never been quite forgotten, and they speak to you in the sweetly solemn twilight of the morning that follows the evening, and of the waking that cometh after the folding of the hands for sleep.

Yes, to all—the young, the old, the high, the low—a happy new year, a happiness arising from and tempered with wisdom, faith, hope and charity.

LOOKING BACKWARD

While the year 1906 is rapidly fading it is but natural that one should look backward to see the advancements that have been made and what things great or small have been achieved.

"Has North East Kootenay advanced during 1906?" is a question each man should ask himself.

North East Kootenay has advanced in 1906.

Materially advanced!

Advanced in many ways!

North East Kootenay—the Columbia Valley—has made rapid strides forward during 1906!

This is true, even though it has seemed to be one of the quietest years of the past seven.

Wherein then has been the advancement?

In our agricultural pursuits.

In our horticultural pursuits.

In our lumbering industry.

In our tourist trade.

In the purchase of land.

In the sale of land.

In the staking of land.

In the staking of timber.

In the purchase of timber.

In the number of saw logs cut.

In the amount of lumber shipped.

In the number of fruit trees planted.

In the number of new settlers.

In the number of acres cleared.

In the number of acres under cultivation.

In the number of births.

In the number of lumbermen given employment.

In railway construction

Then, wherein has North East Kootenay lacked?

And in our mining resources, although our best developed properties were not as active as in many years.

Only in the failure of the Kootenay Central to push railway construction.

RESOLUTIONS

A gentle zephyr wafted the following resolutions into our sanctum:

I resolve the following year that I will not drink any, unless I am dry—very dry.

That I will let people mind their own business and assist them all I can.

That I will agree to obey my superiors, if I have any.

That I will always forgive my enemies, especially those I can't whip.

That I will strive to be in love and charity with my neighbor, if I see I shall need him to back me in some pursuit of life the coming year.

That I will subscribe for this paper and promptly pay for the same.

That I will trade at home and I try and get back some of the money I squandered abroad the past year.

Notice.—The Outcrop is mailing statements of accounts to every person indebted to us, and, if such are not paid it, unless these are settled before Jan. 1st, 1907, we will be obliged to place them in the hands of our solicitor for collection.—W. P. Evans, Proprietor.

Lost—A roll of blankets, on the government road, north of The Outcrop office sometime in October. The finder will kindly communicate with Chief C. Cameron. The roll contained 2 pairs of 3½ point blankets, suit of duck underwear, blue sweater, pair of white card trousers, 2 pair house knitted brown socks and a pair of boots.

Are you listless, faded and without energy

Have you headache, back pains or pains in the chest? Have you that "all-gone" feeling? Do you have fits of acute pain or wind after food?

British Women's Larger Feet.

Are British women's feet growing larger? The fact that the boot and shoe manufacturers of Leicester and Northampton, who are now catering for the footwear fashions of next spring and summer, are offering sizes up to eights, would seem to show a tendency in that direction.

With what withering scorn a blushing British maiden would have looked at a shop assistant who dared to suggest "5's" to her a few years ago! But one Leicester manufacturer now says, "We have found lately a special demand for girls' boots in 7's and 8's. Another Leicester factory has had to throw away all its old lasts for children, in response to loud complaints from buyers, "in the North particularly," and to make the standards of next year's fitting for children somewhat easier. Even the nursery and children's wear attributes the change in part to the effect of the recent sandal craze in expanding young feet.

Manufacturers are now offering for next year's fashions lower heels and broader rounded toes; "the extreme pointed toe," they declare with one accord, "is doomed."

A Disorderly Parliament.

The New South Wales Parliament is gaining the reputation of being the most disorderly legislative body in the Empire. Blasphemous language is of frequent occurrence, and exchanges like the following are a commonplace of nearly every sitting:

Mr. Thrower said they were prepared to go on. They had all the day before them, and there was nothing to do.

Mr. Levy—Perhaps you haven't. We have."

Mr. R. J. Anderson—"He lives on the game."

Mr. Thrower (hotly)—"You are a liar!"

The Chairman—"Order! Order! The hon. member must withdraw."

Mr. Thrower—"I will withdraw, but decline to be misrepresented by a blackguardly scoundrel like him."

The Chairman—"Order! Order! You must withdraw."

Mr. R. J. Anderson—"I am not the scoundrel you are."

The Styles In Borneo.

An impressive name is that worn by the aged hereditary Sultan of Borneo. In full he is called Sri Paduka Rawa Duli Sultan Hashim Jalil Alam Akamadin Ibni Almerhum Sri Paduka Mana-ana Sultan Omar Ali Saifudin. His Imperial highness, the twenty-fifth of his dynasty, is 82 years old, but does not look over threescore. Like most semi-savage potentates, he affects pronounced colors, his favorite sartorial makeup including a green smoking cap, red dressing gown and yellow gymnasium shoes.

The Taking Cold Habit

The old cold goes; a new one quickly comes. It's the story of a weak throat, weak lungs, a tendency to consumption. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral breaks up the taking-cold habit. It strengthens, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about it.

"I had a terrible cold, and nothing relieved me. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and it immediately broke up my cold, stopped my cough, and eased every part of my body. It did wonderful work for me."—M. J. F. LEVY, Toledo, Ohio.

The Sonnet Writers.

The fashion of sonnet writing was at its height in the sixteenth century, when Rousard, the French "prince of poets" in his own country and generation, wrote over 900 sonnets, a total which appears only to have been exceeded by Gomez de Quevedo, the Spanish Voltaire, who is said to have written over 1,000. Fortunately for sonnet lovers some of the best poets have been prolific sonneteers. Petrarch, who created the classic model which later poets imitated, wrote 315. Camoens is responsible for 352, Sir Philip Sidney wrote 108, Spenser 88 and Dante 80. English sonnets were first written by Sir Thomas Wyatt (1503-42) and Henry Howard, earl of Surrey (1517-47), and the first appearance of any in book form was in a rare publication briefly known as "Tottle's Miscellany," the full title being "Songs and Sonnettes written by the Right Honoure Lorde Henry Howard, late Earle of Surrey, and other." The greatest sonneteers of our language are Shakespeare, Milton, Wordsworth and Rossetti.—London Standard.

Tiger and Vulture of the Sea.

If the "killer" whale is "the tiger of the sea," as the writer of an interesting article in the September Windsor has it, the orcas surely are the vultures of the ocean. In connection with whale catching the author of this interesting natural history article tells of the following incident: Some years ago a whaler in the northwest had killed a large whale and had the animal alongside when it was attacked by a school of orcas. They doubtless were half starved and, crazed by the scent of blood that extended away a long distance, probably followed it up like hounds, immediately attacking the whale. The men, with spades and lances, cut and slashed at them, inflicting terrible blows, yet despite this the orcas literally tore the whale from the ropes and carried it off. This certainly shows that the orcas, together with a very fair share of intelligence, are also creatures of extraordinary courage.—Dundee Advertiser.

Always In Trouble.

A still summer's evening, quiet and almost sad. The trees nodded sleepily, as if hushing the world to rest. Suddenly the silent beauty was rudely disturbed. The clattering of a horse's hoofs broke the silence into a thousand echoes. A horseman dashed through the scented lanes, rage glittering from his eyes. He sprang from his horse and rushed into the still homestead and dragged forth Farmer Brown.

"Why, what be matter, Squire Tampson?" queried the worthy farmer in sleepy surprise.

"Matter?" repeated the squire. "Why, matter enough, to be sure! Your great lubberly son Jack has run off with my beautiful daughter Maud."

"Has he, now?" cried the farmer, now thoroughly awake. "Then'rt right t' call 'im a lubberly idjut. He's allus doin' somethin' clumsy. Only last week he went an' broke a shovel!"—London Express.

Melting Fire Clay With Sun's Rays.

There is an apparatus which concentrates the rays of the sun upon more than 6,000 small mirrors on a spot about seven inches in diameter. The heat generated is about 7,000 degrees F. Iron can be melted in less than a minute and fire clay fused in about three minutes by this machine. Magnesia, one of the hardest things to melt, requiring a heat of about 6,400 degrees F., can be reduced to a molten state in twenty minutes. For the benefit of those who wish to forget the name of this instrument it is called the pyrheliophor.

Protective Colors of Animals.

I seem to trace a faint clew to the connection between the protective coloring and the mind in the intense desire of the fox to remain concealed and unseen. That this is a possible theory we infer from the fact that a blind animal does not change color. Put a dozen minnows into an ordinary white wash hand basin and they will in a very short time be of a pale color. If over one no change passes we may be tolerably certain that it is blind.—From Dale's "The Fox."

Guess Again.

"I have a pleasant surprise for you, Miss Sharply."

"Can I guess what it is, Mr. Boresome?"

"You may try, Miss Sharply."

"Let me see. I guess you are going to tell me that you intended leaving the city."

"Good night, Miss Sharply."

"Good night, Mr. Boresome."

Monotonous.

"Wealth has its disadvantages," said the philosopher.

"Yes," answered the man with sporting inclinations. "It must be very monotonous for a man to be able to bet $10,000 or $10,000 on a horse race without caring whether he loses it or not."

It Was the Dutch.

The greatest smokers are unquestionably the Dutch, each inhabitant consuming about 3,110 grams of tobacco a year. Their neighbors, the Belgians, come next, with 2,488 grams; then follows Turkey, with 2,177 grams. The United States, Germany, France, Italy, and Spain consume on the average, about 1,886 grams, while the English content themselves with about 715 grams each year.

Young Jobson is of an exceedingly statistical turn of mind. He got married lately, and at the railway station he had his wife weighed; then he took out a little hand-book and made some calculations, muttering: "Wedding expenses, ——; railway expenses, ——; divide by——. I say, my dear, you have cost me exactly fourpence halfpenny a pound."—Tit-Bits.

Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cows.

A New England man says that one night last winter when the thermometer fell below zero, his wife expressed her concern for the new Swedish maid who had an unheated room.

"Ellen," said she to the girl, remembering the good old custom of her youth, "as it is bitterly cold tonight you'd better take a flatiron to bed with you."

"Yes, m'm," said Eliza, in mild and expressionless assent.

In the morning the girl was asked how she passed the night. With a sigh she replied:

"Well, m'm, I gat the irron 'most varm before morning."—Harper's Weekly.

Her Heart Like a Polluted Spring—Mrs. James Srigley, Pelee Island, Ont., says: "I was for five years afflicted with dyspepsia, constipation, heart disease and nervous prostration. I cured the heart trouble with Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, and the other ailments vanished like mist. Had relief in half an hour after the first dose."—27.

Calumet.

"Calumet," supposed to be an Indian word meaning "pipe of peace," was wholly unknown among the savages. It is Norman and signifies in general a pipe. The pipe of peace was a "ganowdaoe" among the Iroquois and a "poogun" among some other tribes. The Algonquins called it "poogan," the Winnebagoes "tahnechoo" and the Dacotahs "chaindonhoopa."

The Gulf Stream.

Western Europe's climate would be changed entirely were the isthmus of Panama and adjacent territory to be submerged, for in that case the equatorial current would be carried into the Pacific ocean, and the gulf stream, which does so much to warm Europe, would not emerge into the Atlantic.

And He Was Back.

"I don't see why you can't be at the head of your class," said Tommy's mother. "Your teacher tells me you're pretty far back in school."

"Well, say, mom," exclaimed Tommy, "there's no pleasin' you at all! Didn't you say last summer you'd be delighted to have me back in school?"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

An American woman tourist was nothing in a London restaurant. She spoke her at the same table at an English woman. The American wanted to talk.

Say," she began, in a friendly tone, "this is a fine city of yours."

The Britisher inclined her head frigidly, and called for a lemon squash.

"Real friendly the citizens, too," proceeded the woman of the flowing veil.

The citizen opposite her did not indorse this sentiment.

The tourist was not deterred. She proceeded to air her opinions of Westminster; she had been so struck that she had given it a whole hour.

Her listener, still frigid, gave all her energies to the sugaring of her drink. The lady of the veil broke off suddenly to lean across the little marble table and say, more confidentially than ever before:

"Say, are you aware that's a salt shaker you have in your hand?"

Christmas Giving

A great many people think that because they are not able to give Christmas gifts, because they cannot give money or what it will buy, they can give nothing. How little we realize that the best thing anybody can ever give in this world is not money, but himself.

I know a lady who is very poor. She has no money to give to the poor at Christmas. But she goes around for days before Christmas, visiting every person she hears of being sick or crippled or unfortunate, everyone who has any trouble, whether she knows him or not. And she gives out such a wealth of love, of sympathy, of encouragement, good cheer, and sunshine, that these people feel enriched for a whole year. The material things they receive are cold and unsympathetic in comparison with what this poor woman gives them. On the other hand, I know a man, wealthy but selfish, whose conscience begins to trouble him just before Christmas, and he sends out checks, coal, clothing, provisions to the poor people. Then he feels a sort of relief; he has eased his conscience, which prodded him. But he rarely, if ever, goes to see these poor people,—never gives them anything of himself, his encouragement, or good cheer.

This spirit of Christmas is the Christ spirit, the helpful spirit. It is the giving of what Christ gave. He had no money to give,—He was the poorest of the poor,—but did ever any Crossus give as much to give? Did any millionaire ever radiate so much power and hope to the discouraged, so much good cheer to the disheartened, or so much comfort to the sick and the sorrowing?—O. S. Marden, in "Success Magazine."

Many inherit weak lungs, and as disease usually assails the weakest point, these persons are continually exposed to attacks of cold and pulmonary disturbances. The speedy use of Bickle's Anti Consumptive Syrup will be found a preventative and a protection, strengthening the organs so that they are not so liable to derangement from exposure or abrupt atmospheric changes. Bickle's Syrup is cheap and good.

At a country hotel where a young German was stopping for a few days the birds whistled every morning close by his window. The morning of his departure he thanked the birds for whistling for him and the proprietor, hearing him, said:

"You're crazy those birds have not been whistling for you; they whistled for me. I am the boss of this place."

The guest, much hurt, responded: "You're crazy yourself. I know what I talk."

Finally them came to blows and were locked up for the night. Facing the magistrate in the morning, they were fined $10 each. Leaving the fines, and as they were about to depart, the magistrate, calling them, said:

"Gentlemen, the birds were whistling for me."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Veteran's Story.—George Lewis, of Shamokin, Pa., writes: "I am eighty years of age. I have been troubled with Catarrh for fifty years, and in my time have used a great many catarrh cures, but never had any relief until I used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. One box cured me completely." 50 cents—25.

"I can't use all this stuff," said the city editor, irritably, as he glanced over the forty or fifty pages of manuscript the reporter had handed in, "I only asked him what he thought of the story in a nutshell."

"Yes, sir," responded the reporter, "that's what he—the story in a cocoa-nutshell."—Chicago Tribune.

A carrier pigeon with a badly lacerated leg flew into the London Homeopathic hospital by one of the windows. The patient, after receiving treatment, was offered his discharge, but declined to leave his comfortable surroundings.

Ian MacLaren tells an amusing story with regard to bogus degrees. A sweep prosecuted a resident in the suburbs of Edinburgh for debt. The presiding judge called the sweep to give evidence, and the first question he asked him was: "What is your name?"

"Jamie Gregory, L.L.D., sir."

"What! Doctor Lawe? And where on earth did you get that distinction?"

"Twas a fellow fra' an American university, an' I swept his chimney three times. 'I canna pay ye cash, Jamie Gregory,' he says, but I'll make ye an L.L.D., and we'll ca'll it quits.' And he did."

DISEASE BORN OF CARELESSNESS

Because Poisonous Impurities are Left in the Blood Which Can be Removed by the Use of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Disease results in most cases from the presence of poisonous waste matter in the body, and may, therefore, be said to arise from ignorance or carelessness.

Bilious spells, sick headache, attacks of indigestion, kidney pains and backache—such are the indications of failure on the part of the liver to remove the poisonous waste matter as rapidly as it accumulates.

By the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the situation is promptly relieved, because liver, kidney and bowels are set in vigorous action and the filtering and excretory system thoroughly cleansed and strengthened.

Neglect to afford assistance at such a time is to invite the attack of such ailments as Bright's disease, dropsy, rheumatism or appendicitis.

Mr. Wm. Cook, Moosomin, N.W.T., writes: "I have been taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and must say they have done me a lot of good. I have been a great sufferer from diabetes and I can say to all who are afflicted with this disease that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will do them good. I cannot say that I am entirely cured but I have been greatly benefited by this medicine."

Mr. John Wilson, 918 Esplanade avenue, Montreal, Que., writes: "Last February I was taken sick and had to have the doctor, who said that my ailment was a disordered liver. A few weeks after completing this treatment I began to notice symptoms of kidney disease. The urine took on a reddish appearance and continued to get worse until there were brick dust deposits, and then I knew that the kidneys were seriously affected, and that I was threatened with Bright's disease.

"I obtained some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and as a result of this treatment was completely cured. My water became a natural color and is still so. The cure was thorough and lasting."

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy or other equally dreaded ailments. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Good Tenors Are Scarce.

Recent examinations at the Paris Conservatoire of music show that good tenors are steadily getting scarcer and that hardly any of the applicants have been able to reach the high C or even the B flat of the scale. Physicians think the deficiency of tenors is due to violent exercises young men indulge in under the guise of sport, which ruins the vocal chords.

A Famous Old Building.

Evensong was held the other day on the site of the ancient oratory of St. Gwithian, one of the many Irish saints who descended upon Cornwall in the fifth and sixth centuries. In a waste of sand near the Godrevy lighthouse, which marks the eastern horn of St. Ives bay, lie what are regarded as the remains of the oldest Christian building in England. The nave bulges with sand to the level of the plain and through a grass covered hillock ever the demolished altar protrude a few rough stones. During a stormy night of 1825 the sand shifted and revealed the lines of a structure about forty-eight feet long by twelve feet wide, with a priest's doorway, a small window, traces of stone benches and an altar of masonry now gone as the result of the building being forthwith used as a cowshed.—London Globe.

Fox's Big Haul.

A fox visited a hen roost on a farm at Aswarby, South Lincolnshire, and by moving a sliding door was able to gain admission. He killed and carried away thirty prize hens and cockerels before his depredations were discovered.

HOPE FOR THE SICK

A VICTIM OF LA GRIPPE.

Mrs. Henrietta A. S. Marsh, 700 W. 10th St., Los Angeles, Cal., President Women's Benevolent Ass'n, writes

"I suffered with la grippe for seven weeks, and nothing I could do or take helped me until I tried Peruna.

"I felt at once that I had at last secured the right medicine and I kept steadily improving. Within three weeks I was fully restored, and I am glad that I gave that truly great remedy a trial. I will never be without it again."

In a letter dated August 31, 1904, Mrs. Marsh says: "I have never yet heard the efficacy of Peruna questioned. We still use it. I travelled through Kentucky and Tennessee three years ago, where I found Peruna doing its good work. Much of it is being used here also."—Henrietta A. S. Marsh.

Tubbs—I flatter myself that honesty is printed on every face.

Grubb — Well—er—yes, perhaps—with some allowance for typographical errors.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

'Tis a Marvelous thing.—When the cures effected by Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil are considered, the speedy and permanent relief it has brought to the suffering wherever it has been used, it must be regarded as a marvellous thing that so potent a medicine should result from the six simple ingredients which enter into its composition. A trial will convince the most skeptical of its healing virtues.

Willie—Because I knew if I waited till they went I'd never get it.—Detroit Free Press.

Under the Nerve Lash.—The torture and torment of the victim of nervous prostration and nervous debility no one can rightly estimate who has not been under the ruthless lash of these relentless human foes. M. Williams, of Fordwich, Ont., was for four years a nervous wreck. Six bottles of South American Nervine worked a miracle, and his doctor confirmed it.—32.

Original of "Uncle Toby."

Captain Roger Sterne, the father of the author of "Tristram Shandy," was the original of Uncle Toby. As captain of Chudleigh's regiment of foot, a marching regiment ever on the move, Roger Sterne and his family tasted the most varied military and domestic experiences in Flanders, at Gibraltar and finally at Jamaica, where the old campaigner died of "country fever." A simple minded, good natured, but shiftless and rather peppery Irishman, Roger bore his disappointment bravely and carried his load of debt with a light heart. "My father," says Sterne, "was of a kindly, sweet disposition, void of all design and so innocent in his own intentions that he suspected no one, so that you might have cheated him ten times a day if nine had not been sufficient for your purpose." Such a character and such a father supplied the germ from which the genius of the son developed his conception of one of the most perfect and delightful portraits in the gallery of English fiction.

Sex and Rebirth.

The theories concerning the possibility of our having previously existed seem to be endless. Of them all I think the one best which suggests that sex is reversed at rebirth and that women in turn up eons after we previously existed we do so either as men or women according to whether we were women or men aforetime. This largely accounts for the suffragette and for the long haired, thin voiced creatures who potter around boudoirs, play the piano like "sweetly pretty" things and call themselves men. Presumably the best material of which we were fashioned then is now used in our composition, for the most manly women and effeminate men generally have some good points about them. But if one is to keep on performing these Protean feats through all ages it hardly seems worth while worrying over sex problems. It seems to me, in the long run, that we shall each get about equal, according to this arrangement.—London World.

The Remarkable Rhea.

"The rhea of South America is a remarkable bird," said an ornithologist. The male rhea hatches out the eggs. He and not the female is the setter. He sets always in a quiet and desolate place, where there is no food, nothing to attract enemies, and as soon as the young are born the question is how to feed them. The rhea answers that question in advance. Three or four days before the eggs are to open he shoves a couple of them out of the nest with his bill and lays them in the sun. What is the result? The result is that the hot South African sun decomposes the eggs, and the putrefactive broth as the young birds begin to appear in the nest, and the flies settle on them and in twenty-four hours they are alive with worms—tender, juicy, delicious worms, the best food in the world for the nest of new born birdlings."

Garrick as Author.

Writing of Garrick's literary efforts, I suppose not every one knows that he was the author of such well known lines as:

Their cause I plead, plead it in heart and mind;
A fellow feeling makes one wondrous kind.

Or this again:

Let others hail the rising sun;
I bow to that whose course has run.

Or again:

Hearts of oak are our ships,
Hearts of oak are our men.

But I suppose every one knows his epigram on Goldsmith, "who wrote like an angel and talk'd like poor Poll," an epigram that conveyed only half the truth, as Garrick would have been one of the first to admit.—London Sphere.

Habit.

Habit is one of the world's controlling influences. More men are swayed by force of habit, unconsciously perhaps, than any other motive. The habit of doing certain things in a certain way grows from beginnings so small as to be scarcely noticeable until it forms a chain that can scarcely be broken. The habit of right or wrong doing becomes a master, and a more exacting master could not be found.

His Sorrow.

Maud (newly married)—You look very melancholy, George. Are you sorry you married me? George—No, dear, of course not. I was only thinking of all the nice girls I can't marry. Maud—Oh, George, how horrid of you! I thought you cared for nobody but me? George—Neither do I. I wasn't thinking of myself, but of the disappointment for them.

Happiness.

Things are so arranged in this world that happiness as a profession must ever be a failure. It cannot be found by seeking it. It is a reflex action. It is incidental, a product which comes from doing noble things. It is impossible for a person to be really happy by making pleasure a profession.

Some of Them Do.

The master had been giving a class of youngsters some ideas of adages and how to make them. Presently he said:

"Birds of a feather—do what?"

"Lay eggs," piped a small boy before anybody else had a chance to speak.

The Leading Part.

Twynn—I hear that Skidmore has led the Widow Weeds to the altar. Triplet—That is what it is called for politeness' sake, but from my post of observation it looked as though the widow were a neck ahead of him all the way up the aisle.

Men are born to succeed, not to fail. —Thoreau.

A Good Wife.

"Thank you, doctor, for prescribing a trip to the Spa for me. Now, will you please ask my husband to give up smoking and drinking beer, and then my trip will be easily paid for?—Meggendorfer Blatter.

Once a number of legal lights in Washington were gathered in the smoking room of a lawyers' club, when the talk turned to a discussion of the veracity of lawyers. "The average man," remarked one disciple of Blackstone, "seems only too ready to assume we are all liars—a very unjust position, it seems to me. Do you not sometimes tell the truth?" he asked of his neighbor, a well-known criminal lawyer.

"Certainly," promptly responded the latter. "We will do anything sometimes to win a case."—New York Times.

Great Things from Little Causes Grow.—It takes very little to derange the stomach. The cause may be slight, a cold, something eaten or drunk, anxiety, worry, or some other simple cause. But if precaution be not taken, this simple cause may have most serious consequences. Many a chronically debilitated constitution today owes its destruction to simple causes not dealt with in time. Keep the digestive apparatus in a healthy condition and all will be well. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are better than any other for the purpose.

"A horse is a man's best friend," said the man who likes animals.

"Yes," answered young Mrs. Torkins, with a sigh, "but when he gets on the track he is liable to prove one of those fool friends who makes so much trouble."—Washington Star.

Peculiar Accident to an Engineer.

Edward Spencer, chief engineer of the S.S. "Gladiator," of Montreal, was working around his engine when a hot bolt flew out and burned his arm terribly. It was as if a red-hot spit had been thrust into it! A supply of Zam-Buk balm was speedily obtained and first aid rendered. The famous herbal balm alleviated the pain, and to the surprise of Spencer and all his friends, at the end of a week the wound was completely healed. This is only one of several cases reported recently in which Zam-Buk has been proved a wonderful healer of burns, cuts, bruises, and abrasions. It is equally effective for ulcers, sores, poisoning, no matter how long these have persisted. Mrs. W. H. Taylor, of North Bay, Ont., says: "I had a scaly spot about as big as a ten-cent piece on my face. I had it for four years, and hardly a night during that time went by but what I applied cold cream or some ointment or other, but it would always be there, and the warmer the weather the worse it got. I recently applied Zam-Buk, and in about a week's time the spot had disappeared completely."

One of the world's greatest analysts says the healing power of Zam-Buk is due to the rare herbal essences of which it is entirely composed. For rheumatism and sciatica it is also a speedy cure. Its healing influence on the skin is unequalled, and it is so pure that the delicate skin of babies benefits from its application. It cures rashes and eruptions as well as more serious ailments, etc. Indeed, as a household balm it is working wonderful cures all over the Dominion. Druggists and stores sell it at fifty cents a box. A sample will to, to all our readers who mail this article with a one cent stamp to pay return postage. Write the name and date of this paper across the article before mailing.

The Old Roman Epicures.

Almost any dish which had to recommend it rarity, costliness, indigestibility and, to our way of thinking, nastiness was sure to take with the Roman epicure. And if he were unable to made it costly any other way he would add powdered precious stones or gold dust. Nero dined on one occasion from a peacock which was sprinkled with diamond dust, and specimens of that bird dressed with gold or with crushed pearls were by no means a rarity at the trichinia of the moneyed Romans. A dish of parrots' tongues was a great delicacy. But a dish of parrots' tongues which had been capable, when in their proper place, of framing words was of almost incalculable value, which increased in a direct ratio with the vocabularies of the defunct parrots. Another bird for which the Roman epicure was in the habit of paying fabulous prices was the phenecoptrix, which is believed to have been the ptarmigan. It had its home in the most northerly parts of Scotland and Norway, and as this made it hard to get at the Romans appreciated it all the more and put it in the same rank with ostriches, bustards and peacocks. The tongues of these birds were specially prepared, together with the brains, and took the place which a hors d'oeuvre would now take.

The Words on a Cigar Box.

What mean the various words which are stamped on the lid and sides of a cigar box? These are not mere fancy names, but terms actually descriptive of the cigar. On the lid is the name of the cigar. The front of the box describes the shape and size, as "conchas," "reina," "regalias," which state the shape, and "perfecto infantes," "primeros" which state the size. These may be combined, as "conchas especiales," "conchas finas," to state both shape and size. At the back of the box, where the lid turns over, is stamped the quality of the cigar—"superfina," "fina," "flor," "superior" and "bueno," being the terms in the descending scale. The color of the cigar is declared on the right hand side or end of the box. "Claro" signifies the lightest colored, "colorado claro" rather dark, "colorado" dark, "colorado maduro" darker, "maduro" very dark, "oscuro" extremely dark, "negro" darkest.

Hours of Sleep.

The belief that the hours of sleep should be artificially restricted is contrary to ordinary good sense. If the human body does not need sleep for the upbuilding of the tissues it will not call for it. A rule of health which cannot be wrong is to sleep if possible as long as any inclination for it exists. The erroneous belief that insomnia is undoubtedly due to the fact that when the mind and body are thoroughly rested it is often difficult to arouse the mind from its normal state of lethargy. On the other hand, the man who is under a mental strain and sleeps only five or six hours at night is keen and alert soon after awakening. But it is an unhealthy activity. His nerves are at a high tension. He is on edge, so to speak. Such a strain long continued results inevitably in a nervous breakdown.

Lightning's Course.

"On the water," said a grizzled old bayman who stood smoking his corncob and surveying the sky the other day, "when you see a thunder storm rising you want to keep an eye on the lightning. If you see it in the distance striking down farther and farther to the right from where you first saw it or farther and farther to the left, this indicates that the storm is working to the right or to the left, and it may pass around you. But if you see it all the time coming down in the same place and at the same time getting brighter and brighter, why, that indicates that it's coming straight toward you, and this is the time, son, when you want to make for home or get in your sail and make everything snug till the storm passes over."—Exchange.

The Human Head.

An Irishman once defined the human head as "a bulbous excrescence, of special use to many as a peg for hanging a hat on, as a barber's block for supporting wigs, as a target for shooting at when rendered conspicuous by a shining bottom, as a receptacle for a chatterbox, as a machine for fitting into a halter or guillotine, as a receptacle for freaks, fancies, follies, passions, prejudices, predilections—for anything, in short, but brains."

Amenities of the Table.

"I waited ten minutes for a car today," the landlady was saying, "and then it passed me without stopping."

It was afterward recalled that the habitually silent man had been having unusual difficulty with his chops.

"Perhaps," he remarked, "the conductor didn't care to have you board his car."—Exchange.

The Brute.

"What," asked the sweet girl graduate, "was the happiest moment of your life?"

"The happiest moment of my life," answered the old bachelor, "was when the jeweler took back the engagement ring and gave me collar studs in exchange."—London Tribune.

Deforestration.

Practically all the wood used in making reels for cotton in America and England is cut in the forests of Maine, but so great is the amount of timber required each year for making these seemingly insignificent articles that Maine will not be able to supply the raw material much longer. The reels are made of birchwood, and the birch of the Maine forests is the best for the purpose. More than two million feet of timber are shipped to Scotland every year for the use of the great thread manufacturers there, but almost as much is supplied to English manufacturers.

CURED HIS WIFE of LA GRIPPE

Quebec Man tells how the Great Consumptive Preventative was an all-round Benefit

"My wife took La Grippe when she was in Ottawa," says R. N. Dafoe of Northfield Farm, Que., in an interview. "She got a bottle of Psychine and after using it for a few days she was quite well. I took a cold and am using it and am getting all right. I think Psychine is one of the best tonics on the market to-day."

There you have the whole matter in a nutshell. La Grippe and colds are among the forerunners of consumption.

This man had one, his wife had the other. Psychine not only cured both but it built them up so that their bodies are strong enough to resist disease. All seeds of consumption are killed by

The Shool Entertainment

The entertainment given on Monday evening by the Wilmer school children in the church was well attended and proved a great success in every way when Chairman F. G. Ball introduced the following excellent program, the rendering of which reflected credit on the children and their instructors:

Song, "Christmas Chimes", by school; recitations, Phil. Larrabee, Addie Bennett and Dell Bennett; song, "Little Mothers", by five girls; recitations, Clarence Evans, Gilman Larrabee, George Washburn and Minnie Bennett; song, "Welcome", by school; recitation, Dorothy Washburn; dialogue, Edna and Willie Ball; recitations, James Ball, Alfred Larrabee, Sam Bennett and Celestia Bennett; dialogue, "The Irish Schoolmaster", two boys; recitations, Willie Ball, Edna Ball and Mr. Riley; reading, Miss McLennan of Athalmer; recitation Miss McLennan of Wilmer; song, "Good Night Ladies", by the school.

At the conclusion of the program Mr. Riley read a letter instructing him to distribute among the children several large baskets of beautiful gifts, which Mrs. H. C. Hammond of Toronto had kindly sent, and it would have done that generous lady good to have seen the bright, happy faces of the children as they received the numerous gifts. Then several motions were heartily carried conveying the appreciation and greetings of all present to Mrs Hammond for her generous gifts; to Mrs Starke for her goodness in arranging the gifts; and to all who had assisted in making the entertainment a success. On Christmas morning the Wilmer children sent a telegram to Mrs Hammond wishing her a merry Christmas.
